ABOUT FIRST STAR

First Star was founded in 1999 to build strong, lasting pathways for youth in foster care to post-secondary education and successful, independent adult lives. In 2011, that mission took root in California when First Star launched its flagship Academy at UCLA – a four-year, university-based program pairing academic support, life-skills training, and mentorship for high-school-age foster youth.

Fifteen years later, that single Academy has grown into a statewide model. First Star's California Academies now span UCLA, Cal Poly Humboldt, and UC Riverside – and the approach pioneered here has expanded to university campuses across the country.

Nationally, only 3% of foster youth ever earn a bachelor's degree, and just 10% pursue higher education at all. First Star scholars beat those odds by a wide margin: 92% enroll in post-secondary education, and 96% of scholars engaged for two or more years graduate high school on time.

- 15 years of the Academy model in California, since its UCLA launch in 2011
- California Academies at UCLA, Cal Poly Humboldt, and UC Riverside – part of First Star's national network of university-based Academies
- 94% of First Star scholars believe college is achievable for them; 87% report having a concrete plan for their future

Please help us make a difference in the lives of the next generation of First Star scholars.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

Since 2011, visionary leaders — our Guiding Stars — have helped build First Star's Academy model from a single UCLA classroom into a statewide movement. The 2026 First Star Celebration honors that legacy and raises the funds needed to carry it forward: Strong Futures Start Here.

Your sponsorship will:

- Sustain the academic instruction, test prep, and education advocacy First Star scholars receive throughout high school
- Fund the residential summer sessions and monthly workshops that keep scholars on track for four consecutive years
- Support life-skills training in financial management, housing, and health so scholars are ready for independence
- Help expand the Academy model to reach more youth in foster care across California and nationwide
- Recognize your organization alongside California's Champions of Foster Youth, with visibility on event materials, the program, and First Star's website

First Star is a 501(c)(3) public charity. Your contribution is tax-deductible as allowed by law.
